

company.

youdox is an innovation leader in the strongly growing market of automated content and advertising distribution.

technology.

youdox has conceived a sophisticated matching and distribution technology.

product & services.

youdox is an online instrument for symbiotic distribution of digital and physical goods.

On the one hand, youdox users can get better content for their websites, boost traffic, and enhance revenues. On the other hand, users can sell digital and physical products and services of any kind. Last but not least, advertisers can target customers far more precisely than before.

customers.

Website Owners: anyone responsible for website content receives matching content and efficient support from youdox.

Rights Holders of professional or tailored content find a direct evaluation channel to professional point-of-sale websites.

Advertisers can bring their target group messages together with content of a site and even meld them together. Advertising is increasingly perceived and accepted as content.
